1. Introduction

The Associação Ordem dos Pobres Cavaleiros do Templo de Jerusalém (Poor Knights of the Temple of Jerusalem Association), abbreviated to OPCTJ, is a non-profit association.

OPCTJ, was established in Tomar Portugal on 06 July 2020, founded on the principles of the medieval Knights Templar, an Order which has historical and cultural importance in Portugal. Since its foundation by 166 members, our membership has been increasing to 500+ members, enabling the establishment of 21 Commanderies in territories with Templar history. There are also a select number of 'Members of Honour', invited from the international community, who have been recognised for their contribution and support in the growth and development of OPCTJ.

The cross adopted and presented in the logo is based on the cross of the first King of Portugal, Afonso Henriques (1106, 1109 or 1111-1185), who fought with the crusaders from England and later with the Knights Templar in the Christian Reconquest, in the territory that would become the Portuguese Nation. The cross was used on his signature and nowadays it can be found on the back of Portuguese Euro coins, as a symbol of the foundation and identity of Portugal.

UN Sustainable Development Goals:

4. The regional development model

OPCTJ board of directors are dedicated to tourism and regional development following the governmental model. OPCTJ Commanderries are involved in local and regional humanitarian work projects.

Tangible and intangible cultural heritage has been an extremely important means of generating wealth in Portugal in recent years and a driving force for regional development, especially in rural areas. Local elements are vital in this process as they originate the differentiation factor and can lead to the creation of tourism products. At the same time, this model ensures the sustainability of territories and creates a legacy for future generations. It is also important to emphasize the need for community involvement in the development of territories, as residents are part of the product and representatives of the local culture. Additionally, the model must be combined with the residents' quality of life, in terms of: strengthening the local economic base; infrastructure; investment in services (financial, security, health, transport, etc.); and creating employment opportunities.

It is essential that local and regional entities, whether public, private or associative, assume a decisive role in the knowledge transfer, and in the planning and regional promotion of tourism activity, maximizing benefits. These entities, including OPCTJ, are investing in the diversification and differentiation of the offer as a source of local wealth, namely: culture; leisure; nature; festivals and fairs; gastronomy and wines. OPCTJ is such an entity. Therefore, this integrated regional development model is based on the "common benefit".

OPCTJ works with municipalities, universities, local associations, solidarity or social support institutions, and private entities.
